

EMED[®] Corporation

“The Power of Creative Thinking...”

Announces the acquisition of Innovamed Corporation

El Dorado Hills, CA. September 24, 2007. [EMED[®] Corporation](#) announced today that it has acquired the intellectual property, trade names, processes and all other assets of Innovamed Corporation. Mr. Ernst Czadilek, President for Innovamed and inventor of its main product [detrusan[®]](#) will stay on with [EMED[®]](#) to continue further work on enhancements to [detrusan[®]](#) and other product developments. Mr. Czadilek is a world class inventor and an authority in CE as well as FDA regulatory aspects. [EMED[®]](#) welcomes him as a strategic member of its executive team.

The addition of [detrusan[®]](#) to [EMED[®]](#)'s current family of products is a significant step forward in the company's global strategy for growth and market expansion. [detrusan[®]](#) was developed in 1995 to take advantage of decades of clinical research and it constitutes a breakthrough for the treatment of urinary incontinence. [EMED[®]](#) will focus on enhancing sales and marketing activities for [detrusan[®]](#) worldwide with a particular focus on Europe and the US markets.

“Growth and financial benefits derived from this acquisition will significantly advance our mission to develop and provide cutting edge medical technology that improves the livelihood and quality of healthcare to patients” commented Mr. Paul Lambert, [EMED[®]](#)'s CEO.

ABOUT US

EMED Corporation develops, manufactures and markets safety medical products and specialty medical devices. Our paramount design criteria are the therapeutic efficacy and the safety and comfort of both clinicians and patients. We are proud to have pioneered several innovative product developments resulting in important clinical contributions